TWO WEEKS LEFT FOR ALIENS TO COMPLETE ANNUAL REGISTRATION REQUIREMENTS

The district director of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Arthur A. Poulin, Jr., urges all aliens in Maine who have not yet filled out alien address report forms to do so before Jan. 31, at the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service office or local Post Office.

The Immigration official pointed out that the law requires all non-citizens, except persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives to certain international organizations, to report their addresses to the Government each January, as well as whenever they change their address during the year.

Mr. Poulin added: "The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must fill out the address report form for such a child in order to comply with the law."

He declared: "We have tried to make it as convenient as possible for non-citizens to meet the address report requirements; and, in view of serious penalties for willful violation, all aliens subject to the address report law are urged to comply before the end of January."

Mr. Poulin advised: "It is easy for an alien to meet this requirement. He just goes to the nearest Post Office, fills out the address report form, places a stamp on the reverse side of the card containing a preprinted address and mails it. Or, if more convenient the card may be completed and left at any office of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service."

Any non-citizen who is ill may send a friend or relative to obtain the card for him, place a stamp thereon and mail it after it has been completed by the alien.

The Immigration official said that 18,000 aliens in Maine already have filled out address reports. He estimated that over 21,000 such reports will be submitted before Jan. 31.

At this time all aliens in the United States as well as any prospective employer of an alien who is in the United States, are also placed on notice that the issuance of a Social Security Account Card to an alien is not evidence of legal permission from the Government for

S. A. D. 44 BOARD DISCUSSES BUDGET AT SPECIAL SESSION

—To Meet at Andover Jan. 21

The board of directors of S. A. D. 44 held a special meeting at Telstar Regional High School on Tuesday evening for discussion of the fiscal year 1975 budget.

The directors granted tentative approval to the Administration, Instruction, and Health series in the 1975 budget. Debt Service and Outgoing Transfers (Tuition) portions tentatively approved at the Jan. 7 board meeting.

Directors absent Tuesday evening were: Eddie Snyder, George Chase, Leon Akers, Andover; John Anderson, Clarence Remington, Bethel; Paul Wight, Jeannine Fleet, Newry.

There will be a regular meeting of the S. A. D. 44 board at the Andover Elementary School on Monday evening, Jan. 21. Included on the agenda for the 7:30 meeting will be requested action on a personnel matter and continued discussion of the FY 1975 budget. Members of the board's personnel committee are asked to meet at 7 o'clock.

The alien to be employed in the United States. As a general rule only those aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence (lawfully resident immigrants) may work in the United States.

Under certain emergency conditions aliens who have been admitted for a temporary stay in the United States (non-immigrants), and who have been granted specific authorization in writing from the Immigration and Naturalization Service, may work in the United States.

Any other alien found working in the United States in violation of law is subject to penalties established by the Immigration and Nationality Act, including enforced departure from the United States.

In view of the concern expressed by National and State leaders on the need to provide more job opportunities for the unemployed, including returning veterans, any prospective employer having questions concerning the legal right of aliens to accept employment should contact the nearest office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, U. S. Department of Justice.

N. H. SURVEY SHOWS ECONOMIC FACTORS SHOULD BE CONSIDERED IN SITE SELECTION

Citizens of New Hampshire's Second Congressional District agree with Maine business and professional leaders that economic impact should be judged with environmental factors when considering new projects.

According to James K. Keefe, Maine Commissioner of Commerce and Industry, a constituent poll taken by New Hampshire Congressman James C. Cleveland revealed that 76% of persons replying felt that major federal projects should be scrutinized concerning economic impact.

Keefe cited similar results from a recent DCI questionnaire sent to members of the Mark Maine Committee, a voluntary statewide organization interested in furthering Maine's economic development.

"The questionnaire indicated that 90% of respondents thought Maine's Site Selection Law should be broadened so that economic as well as environmental values relating to proposed projects would receive equal consideration," Keefe said.

Currently, the Board of Environmental Protection, in keeping with the Site Selection Law, has refused to take evidence on the economic impact of proposed projects, thus avoiding any semblance of balance.

"It completely ignores any economic benefits that would accrue as a result of the project," Keefe said. "In this respect, the Site Selection Law is patently unfair and represents an obstruction to future development in a state with the lowest per capita income in New England."

"By the same token, we must also apply the environmental yardstick if we are to accurately assess the total impact of any new project. Only by weighing both the economic and environmental factors can we achieve the type of balanced development that is so necessary to Maine's future," the DCI Commissioner added.

APPARENT GASOLINE THEFT REPORTED BY S. A. D. 44

It has been reported that between 1,500 and 1,800 gallons of gasoline have been apparently stolen from the S. A. D. 44 storage tanks at Telstar Regional High School. The shortage has developed over a two week period, and reportedly represents about a 10 day supply for the district-owned vehicles.

Teachers. Its mission is to strengthen the teaching of introductory physics at all levels. The circulation is international in scope, about equally divided between high school and college teachers of physics.

Messrs. Fiske and Kersey were also recently honored by a film taping of a "live" physics class in action. This T. V. film tape will be presented to a joint meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Physics Society in Chicago next month. The presentation will be used as an example of outstandingly successful innovations of physics in the classroom.

The T. V. film taping was done at Telstar by two university instructors, Prof. Douglas Huegel of Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia, and Prof. Betty Levy of Columbia University.

Mr. Fiske and Mr. Kersey are saluted not only for their outstanding success with young people in the classroom but for their willingness and talent in promoting their ideas in an internationally recognized journal.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The town has not had a reply from the railroad pertaining to the possibility of erecting signals at the Ferry Road crossing in West Bethel. They sent two representatives to inspect the site but we do not know the outcome of their visit. It was expected we would have the necessary information in time to insert articles in the town meeting warrant. Now it appears unlikely we will receive it in time.

The proposal to rebuild the bridge over Chapman Brook on the Northwest Bethel road also may have to be deleted from the annual warrant due to some possibility of a change in the status of the road. There is a request pending to have it designated a State Aid Road. If this is done we must know what specifications for a bridge would be approved by the Dept. of Transportation. We do not want to replace the present structure and find within a few years we would have to make a complete change resulting in the investment made being lost. It is felt if we spend a comparatively small sum re-inforcing the present bridge we could use it until we know definitely what we should build permanently.

WEEK IN OXFORD CO.

Officers chosen to serve the North Waterford Fire Association for 1974 are as follows: President, Steve Wilson; vice president, James Hunt; secretary, Winola Brown; treasurer, Gladys Knight; fire chief, Irving McAllister; assistant fire chief, Stephen Wilson; engineer, Reid Grover.

Very cold weather reports are received from all sources. Buckfield temperatures were as low as 23 below zero at 7:30 Sunday morning. Several people in Buckfield reported seeing what they thought to be the comet Kahoutek late Sunday afternoon.

A 1973 four-door auto received damage estimated at $1,550 following a one car crash on the Sunday River Road Sunday morning. The driver was identified as Edward A. Kennett, 16, by State Trooper James Nolan, Rumford. Reportedly the driver slowed for a bridge and the car slid over an embankment. No injuries to the driver were reported.

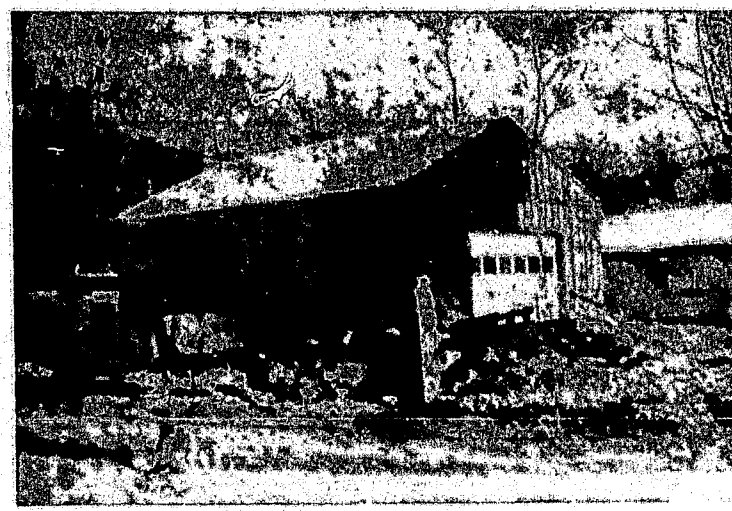

At the annual meeting of the members of the Stephens Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Barbara Rideout of Paris Hill was chosen president and Mrs. Dorothy MacCallum, South Paris, vice president.

The Sosnowski cottage on Summer Hill, Sumner, was damaged by fire Sunday afternoon. Officials believe the blaze may have started around a floor furnace. The roof and walls were not damaged. There was some inside damage reported.

Severin M. Bellevue of Rumford, chairman of the Maine Democratic State Committee, attended a bipartisan, three-day working conference on State Party Chairmen in American Politics in Cambridge, Mass., on the week end. The conference was sponsored by the Institute of Politics of the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

AD HOC COMMITTEE MET WEDNESDAY EVENING

The Ad Hoc Committee for Educational Planning of S. A. D. 44 met Wednesday evening at Telstar Regional High School.

Evidently there has been some question as to the purposes and functions of this committee. Briefly its function is to study and make recommendations to the board of directors concerning the educational needs of S. A. D. 44 from kindergarten through grade 12, with emphasis on the kindergarten through grade 6 levels. Included within its parameter are physical facilities, staffing and curriculum, with the authority to secure the services of such consultants as are necessary to complete its work.

During the next several weeks, the committee will be interviewing educational consultants prior to selecting one to assist them in their endeavors. On next Tuesday evening, Jan. 22, at Telstar Regional High School, the committee will be interviewing a representative of Engelhardt, Engelhardt and Leggett. Any member of the S. A. D. 44 community is invited to attend the 7:30 meeting.

Next week the committee hopes to have available for publication a report of its accomplishments to date.

In its original charge by the S. A. D. 44 board, the group was to make its recommendations by March 1. It has been learned that indefinite extension beyond the March 1 date will be sought in order to more fully accomplish its goals.

MAINERS CAN'T USE TOLL FREE WINTER SPORTS PHONE SYSTEM

Misunderstandings have arisen in connection with the toll-free winter sports information phone system inaugurated by the Maine Department of Commerce and Industry in cooperation with the Ski Maine Association.

According to Roger N. Woodcock, DCI promotion director, "This is strictly an out-of-state telephone line. All of New England, except Maine, and parts of New York can use the toll-free number."

The government came on the heels of numerous complaints to the New England Telephone Company. Persons attempting to call from within the State were unable to reach the telephone line.

Woodcock responded, "It was an unfortunate misunderstanding. The line installed for out-of-state use, is a Band One WATS (Wide Area Telephone Service) line and cannot be called from within the State. The telephone company itself had to call the Boston operator in order to see if the line was working."

"The number, 800-341-4688, will continue to operate on a 24-hour basis, relaying information on bus- ing and other special transportation programs, lodging availability, special events, weather forecasts, gas availability and road conditions for Maine's winter sports areas."

The program is being given wide radio and newspaper coverage in the Boston area and has met with good response to date. Financing prohibits the extension of the service for in-state use.

Woodcock urged Maine residents to continue calling individual areas for up-to-the minute information.

Miss Susan Venable, Providence, R. I. is guest this week of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gould Jr.

RESULT OF GILEAD FIRE

Firemen and volunteers, hampered by the lack of water, managed to save the building shown above which stood only a few feet from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tyler and family in Gilead, which was totally destroyed by fire early on the morning of Saturday, Jan. 12. The Bethel fire department was at the scene. Help from the Gorham, N. H., fire department had to turn back because of mechanical problems.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

At the January meeting of the Bethel Historical Society members were sorry to learn of the resignation of Gwendolyn Holt as treasurer. Mrs. Holt has served as treasurer for a considerable time and will be missed in that capacity. She will be succeeded by Pearlina McMillin who will take up her duties at the next meeting.

It was decided that the new meeting place would be officially designated as the "Moses Mason Meeting Room".

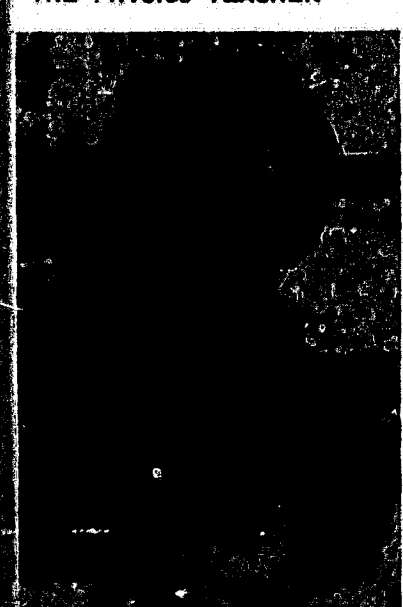

The Education Committee, represented by Kathy Newell and Rollie Chapman, presented a well-documented, interesting and amusing history of the Chapman House from its origins through Robert Chapman's storekeeping and expansion days and into the twentieth century. Until the middle 1930's it was owned by one of Bethel's most famous inhabitants, William Rogers Chapman, musical composer, entrepreneur, founder of the Maine Music Festivals as well as the Rubinstein Club of New York. Dr. Chapman had many other distinctions and an extraordinary circle of world-renowned musical artists as his friends, but is best remembered in Bethel for his homely characteristics and peculiarities. Mrs. Becky Bailey shared some of her personal recollections and amusing anecdotes concerning the Chapman family.

The Furnishings Committee reports progress in its acquisition of articles of furniture and memorabilia for the Moses Mason Museum. As listed by its chairman, Floribel Haines, there are several items still needed: one bureau, or chest of drawers; one dry sink; one bedstead; one dining room table and four chairs; one washstand; four small tables; two harvest tables; candle holders; white oil lamps.

This is an opportunity to honor one's forebears or perpetuate the memory of loved ones now gone, by donating such articles for placement in the Moses Mason Museum. It is hoped the townspeople will search their attics and houses once again. One item in particular still eludes the Furnishings Committee: a follow-up to Laplam's History of Bethel, published around 1910, which had wide distribution at that time. Surely there must be one copy extant and the Committee would greatly appreciate hearing about it. Last but not least, the portrait of Moses Mason—perhaps the most valuable item of all—has not yet turned up. Do you have a clue as to its whereabouts?

MOTHERS CLUB TO SPONSOR FOOD SALE, JAN. 25
The Bethel Mothers Club will be sponsoring a food sale on Jan. 25, at 3 o'clock at the Bethel IGA Store. Anyone wishing to donate cooked items is asked to leave them with Judy Bean or at the store.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

When I took my last outdoor observation on Thursday evening before going to bed the snow was coming down as it had most of the day, like white corn meal. I thought of the Indian saying, "Snow like meal, snow a great deal" and went to bed. When the morning light appeared, several inches of snow showed on the bird feeder. There was a world of fantasy and snow was still falling slowly. Each flake was so delicate as it drifted and turned in the air. This continued throughout the day. But it wasn't very cold and there was no wind. I stayed in no longer. At one fifteen I brought my snowshoes and started out for the woods. The laden branches drooped, the slender trees arched over the expanse of white. The little bushes in the spring road had caught the tiny flakes only on the buds and looked like pussy-willows all in bloom. Little evergreens scarcely peeped through in places.

At a place where the bank descended gradually and a stump was girdled by an even white wall, I left the road to make my own trail among the trees.

The oaks, maples and birches among the hemlocks and firs imparted brightness, like sunshine to the landscape, especially on this cloudy, snowy day. They were like the sun breaking through mist and shining faintly on the hills here and there.

Standing here among the trees, picturesque and filled with elder-down stuffing; I was surrounded by an intense silence. There was no other sound than my own breathing. I leaned against a giant hemlock and looked up at the steep slope while the tiny flakes moistened my face.

At times I drummed branches so they would rise and let me pass beneath. At other times a tree shed by itself. They it looked as if tiny smoke stacks were belching white.

Going in the direction of the ledges, curves of small branches smiled among the boulders.

Near the trunk of a gray birch one lonely Indian pipe looked up. It had lost its striking resemblance to a pipe "its head no longer bent in prayerful mood." I had never seen one at this time of year. In deep summer they are singularly fairy-like springing from a ball of matted rootlets, and are parasitic, drawing their nourishment from decaying vegetable matter.

When I reached the ledges and looked out over the ponds and hills; from the forest where I stood to the bounds of the horizon everything might have been dipped in a sea of flour.

From out the distance I heard the afternoon train pulling up the grades and from somewhere in the forest came the sounds of a snowmobile.

I took a new trail homeward, passing among a few goldenrods; today fashioned in white cotton.

I found my way back to the spring road and was glad I had my poles, which I always carry, to help me up the steep inclines, as this one was.

Arriving home I, too, was white but was happy that I had been among the rock-clustered firs, sweet scented, and the pines and hemlocks with their arching boughs, dressed in beauty with graceful drooping limbs.

Keeping Warm With Less Fuel

Whether your home is heated by gas, oil or electricity, there is a possibility that you may face a fuel shortage this winter. Now, more than ever, it is necessary to learn how to cut down on fuel consumption.

In the first place, don't over-heat your home. For each degree you lower the setting of your thermostat, you save approximately three percent in fuel consumption. If your normal setting is 75°, lowering it to 72° will save about 9 percent.

Lower your thermostat when you retire for the night. Night setbacks, according to some studies, can achieve savings up to 15 percent.

Although this is debatable, it certainly will not result in increased consumption. Anyway, from a comfort standpoint, most people prefer a cooler room when they sleep.

If you have a fireplace, close the doors to the other rooms when it is in use. A good fire draws a lot of air, and although the room in which it is located is warm, the other rooms may feel chilly. Above all, make sure the damper is closed tight when it is not in use, or literally all your fuel dollars will go up the chimney.

Draperies should be drawn as soon as the sun goes down. They can act as another wall against the cold and eliminate drafts.

Take a walking "tour" around the house, and any cracks you find in the foundation should be filled in by cramming steel wool into them. Not only will it cut down on drafts, it will also prevent mice from using your house as their winter headquarters.

UPSET STOMACH, ANYONE? As part of the Individualized Chemistry program at Telstar, students learn about acids and bases and how they react together. To reinforce theory, students then compare the relative antacid properties of commercially available antacid medicines. Leilani Poland and Pam Sidelinger are shown comparing the antacid properties of milk of magnesia and baking soda. They compared recommended doses of both remedies and found milk of magnesia to be considerably more effective than baking soda—but neither of them would taste the winner.

MONTH LONG ART EXHIBIT BY ANN BEYER AT LIVERMORE FALLS

Ann Beyer, a well-known Maine artist, will be exhibiting her work from February 4 through the end of the month in the Community Art Gallery of the Livermore Falls Trust Company. This exhibit of water colors by one artist will be open to the public Monday through Friday from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. and on Saturday from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m. Closed Sunday.

Of local interest is one of Mrs. Beyer's most recent projects which is a series of four watercolors representing the four seasons. These will be reproduced for place mats and are of the Bethel Common and its surroundings. They are being done for Willard Enterprises of Bethel and will be available next summer throughout Maine. One of the place mat series is of particular interest because it is a painting of the Moses Mason House which has been restored with financial support of the trustees of the William Bingham II Trust for Charity in consultation with the Smithsonian Institution, Sturbridge Village and the State of Maine Museum.

The house is to be turned over to the Bethel Historical Society.

Mrs. Beyer began her serious painting career in 1964. Since that time, she has been represented in 17 New England art shows including a one man show at the Western Maine

CHOOSE TAX HELP CAREFULLY IRS ADVISES

Taxpayers who seek assistance of a commercial income tax return preparer should choose one of the many reputable preparers who will provide honest and forthright assistance, Whitney L. Wheeler, IRS District Director for Maine advises taxpayers.

Even if someone else prepares the return, the taxpayer is still responsible for the accuracy of the information entered on the return and the full payment of any additional tax, penalties or interest charges, Mr. Wheeler said.

Most tax return preparers are competent and honest, but taxpayers should be on their guard against unscrupulous preparers, Mr. Wheeler said.

Here are some tips:
Never sign a blank return;
Do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later;

Do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer;
Avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and

Avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income, he said.

A reputable tax preparer will sign the tax return he prepares on the line provided and enter his identifying number. In fact, the taxpayer should insist on this, Mr. Wheeler said. And the taxpayer, should record the preparer's name and address for future reference.

Any balance of Federal Unemployment Tax not over $100 for 1973 should be paid by Jan. 31, using Form 940. Balances of tax due over $100 require the employer to make a deposit with FTD Form 508. As with Form 941, taxpayers who deposit the full amount of tax on time may have ten additional days to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return."

"This year we'd like to stress that those employers who received the preaddressed Form 941 in the mail should use it to file their report," said Whitney L. Wheeler, IRS District Director. "Those persons who did not receive the preaddressed forms can obtain forms from their local IRS office."

The January 31 deadline does not apply to those employers who make timely deposits in Federal Reserve or approved commercial banks of the full amount of tax due. They are allowed an additional ten days to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return."

"This year we'd like to stress that those employers who received the preaddressed Form 941 in the mail should use it to file their report," said Whitney L. Wheeler, IRS District Director.

IRS Publication 15, "Circular E—Employer's Tax Guide," provides further information on these taxes and is available free from IRS offices.

Dear Editor,

This letter is to ask you to acknowledge by printing this letter the hard working women and men in the Oxford County area who have engaged in citizen participation at its most fundamental level—the political process. In a year when politics have not been the hot issue—except in a negative sense—these people have worked hard to insure that the Oxford County area receive the best possible representation in the State Senate and House of Representatives.

Working at raising issues at the grass roots level is never easy and working for a concept—equality under the law—even more difficult. I feel that these people who have shown their respect for our process of government by working within the system to express their views deserve our highest praise.

Sincerely,
Lois Gnlgy Reckitt

A HUMANE INTEREST STORY

by Walt Cherry
Part 1

News coverage of the fire at Elan One in North Sebago during the past week has included some unfortunate remarks that should be corrected. In various reports the Sebago facility, and a newer addition at Waterford, were referred to as drug rehabilitation centers and the enrollees as "inmates." Further, there was reported, and shown pictorially, a fence, referred to as a "maximum security fence" on one side of the Waterford annex. This was careless reporting and misleading information which could do great harm to the program and to the enrollees.

This writer is intimately acquainted with the Director and Staff and the program of the Centers. They are not drug rehabilitation centers, not detention centers, and not correctional institutions. In this installment it seems appropriate to explain what Elan really is.

Essentially, it is the manifestation of an idea of an idea. The original idea is as old as this country—freedom for all. The new idea is that youngsters who are trapped by their own emotional hangups should also be able to enjoy the first idea. They are not free to pursue happiness as we are because they are victims of a widespread affliction, with an extensive and complex etiology, and a wide variety of symptoms.

The common problem is essentially emotional, running the gamut from emotional insecurity to emotional instability. The causes are many, including parental discord and societal permissiveness. The symptoms range from pseudo-autism to xenophobia and include drug abuse, petty theft and other forms of delinquent behavior.

These youngsters are the victims of their little pieces of society, not the culprits. They are not at Elan I or II for punishment or detention. They are there to rid themselves of the effects of their old environments and to make themselves ready for full and fruitful participation in society.

It takes a lot of time and application to undo the harm done to a child by others. The Elan approach is new, bold, progressive and promising. Wonders have already been accomplished. Through peer pressure and interaction — kids with a common ailment are able to live together and help one another toward a new life.

This kind of endeavor merits encouragement, not disparagement. Public understanding and support are vital.

CMP TO DISCONTINUE APPLIANCE REPAIR SERVICE ON MARCH 1

Central Maine Power Company has announced it will discontinue appliance repair services March 1.

"Because of the hundreds of styles and models of products with thousands of repair parts it is simply no longer physically practical for us to provide this service to our customers," said Henry W. Mertens, CMP's executive vice president and manager of division operations.

"Today, appliance dealers and manufacturers are offering total appliance repair services for their products. These specialists generally work on a limited number of product lines and can stock and maintain a more complete inventory of parts, thus providing more timely and complete customer service. Lists of qualified independent dealers and agents will be maintained for our customers to assist in providing prompt service needs," Mertens said.

For many years CMP has made every effort to provide quality appliance repair service for our customers. At one time we were able to maintain a large parts inventory which would permit our servicemen to complete a large percentage of service work in a single call. This is no longer possible as many parts are not available and delivery of standard parts is slow.

All work in progress on March 1 will be completed as soon as possible. It is hoped that the effect of the cutback on our service employees will be minimal. Every effort will be made to transfer these specialists to other areas, particularly into positions opened by retirements," Mertens said.

MAINE AUDUBON SOCIETY SAYS "ENVIRONMENTAL MOVEMENT" NOT FADING

If environmental concern can be measured by the number of people participating in or contributing to a conservation organization... then, interest in the "Environmental Movement" is certainly NOT fading.

"The Maine Audubon Society just completed the most successful year of operation in its long history," stated Richard B. Anderson, Executive Director of Maine Audubon.

"I must say," he said, "judging by facts accumulated during the past year, interest in the environment is stronger than ever."

Louise Colby, the Society's Field Trip Co-ordinator, reported that more than 580 people participated in Maine Audubon sponsored field trips in 1973 - an increase of 100% over 1972.

These trips, guided by experts, explored many of the biological wonders of the state of Maine. Puffins and Razorbills on Machias Seal Island and Matinicus Rock. Landlocked Salmon in Sebago Lake tributaries, waterfowl and eagles in Merrymeeting Bay, sea ducks in Casco Bay, and game management and flood plain protection at Brownfield Bog were some of the field trip highlights.

The distribution of film and slide programs dealing with many facets of natural history and the environment was at an all time high. The Education Department provided a total of 477 separate individual showings of the Society's programs by mail or in person.

These programs were used by people of all ages through their church group, garden club, fish and game club, service organization, or school.

Program presentations were widely distributed throughout Maine from Lubec to Rumford and from Kittery to Fort Kent.

Data on each film showing indicates that an average of about 49 people attended each showing, adding up to slightly over 19,000 persons who received the conservation message from Maine Audubon's films and slides.

"Thousands of other Maine residents asked for and received information in such areas as recycling, pesticide use, saltmarsh protection, and wildlife identification," said Peggy Priest, Director of Education.

Maine Audubon's Membership Co-ordinator, John Jensen, also reports an extremely successful year in 1973. The Society's income from membership has increased 110%.

since 1960 and increased an astounding 47.5% in 1973 (1972 membership income $15,000; 1973 membership income $22,139).

The weekly T. V. series, "Audubon Wildlife Theatre", sponsored by the Savings Banks Association of Maine, combined educational programs with factual handling of environmental problems and served to encourage Maine Audubon membership.

Mr. Jensen also conducted an extensive mail campaign designed to acquaint people with Maine Audubon's many activities and invite them to become members.

Mr. Jensen summed up 1973 by saying, "Our membership drive was a tremendous success. We have set a goal of a 50% increase in membership in 1974, and if our past success is any indication, this goal will certainly be attained."

"All in all," Anderson said, "this has been a great year for the Maine Audubon Society, and I am sure that the bloom is not off the 'Environmental Movement,' and I have the figures to prove it."

FROM WILFRED BEAVER, SPARTA, WIS.

One of my favorite childhood memories is the old horse-drawn circus that piled the small towns before they became motorized and merged into a two-name circus with three rings full of performers. This was the time circus moved by railroad flat cars from long distances to play one night or longer to county fairs and political gatherings. There were always five passes handed to town merchants and church elders who had to approve the appearance of the canty-clad acrobats and backback riders who were mostly females.

After getting approval of town council and church elders, advance men would arrange to rent some cow pasture or open area near town and then hire us kids to paste circus posters around on telephone poles and fence posts. We would get free passes to the circus, usually matinee, and could roam about watching the circus people set up tents and arrange for the feeding of lions, elephants and people.

Merchants welcomed the circus as it meant free advertising for them and the extra revenue the circus people brought in when they bought supplies helped them pay their taxes. A "circus town" was among the first to build libraries, town halls and police stations with the money the circus brought forth.

Planning Your Winter Vacation Time

By Pat Dudgeon

The USA offers some of the finest skiing anywhere in the world. This year more skiers than ever before will be making good use of the facilities available. Proper preparation will aid in making your ski trip an even more thrilling experience than anticipated. Whether you are a beginner or an expert, downhill racer or cross-country hiker, there is a place for you to enjoy your winter vacation time. No matter what your age, experience or budget, skiing may be the exercise for you. If you're willing to give it a try the following hints may prove helpful.

Accommodations of all descriptions are available. Package plans. Reduced rates on airfare, lodging, skiing, ski lessons, ski clubs, group rates. Charter buses. Your local travel agent should have all such information. SKI and SKIING MAGAZINES are good references for choosing an area and your equipment.

Week-ends are the busiest in most areas. Try and avoid the crowds especially if you have beginners in your group.

January is Best

January is usually a good bargain month. This is an ideal time for the novice. Fewer people, cheaper skiing.

Once you've chosen an area start thinking about clothing and equipment. Your local sporting goods store just might offer you what you need at a substantial savings.

Most areas provide snow and highway reports. Make good use of them.

Sign up for ski school. Extra money but it will make for more enjoyable skiing sooner.

Don't feel bad about falling and feeling clumsy. Even your instructor had to start sometime.

If you feel fatigued, head for the lodge. A sauna and a night's sleep and back again tomorrow.

Individual state departments of travel, tourism, highway, parks, vacation and development have all the necessary information. Write them ahead of time.

Update your health insurance.

Schoos. Weeee. You're off. Bend your knees. Happy Skiing.

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR LOCATION AND DESIGN APPROVAL U. S. ROUTE 2 IN THE TOWN OF GILEAD - OXFORD COUNTY FEDERAL AID PROJECT FLH-3-1(1)

The Maine Department of Transportation, Bureau of Highways, hereby gives notice that it is requesting route location and highway design approval for the reconstruction and/or relocation of a portion of U. S. Route 2 in the town of Gilead as described below from Robert D. Hunter, Division Engineer, Federal Highway Administration, Room 614, Federal Building, Augusta, Maine 04303:

Location: Beginning on U. S. Route 2 in Gilead at the Maine-New Hampshire State Line at Survey Station 11+50 and extending east generally within the existing highway about 750 feet to Survey Station 14+50, thence about 0.27 mile on new location which is northerly of the existing highway and a maximum offset distance of about 200 feet from the existing highway and re-entering the existing highway at Survey Station 20+0, thence generally along the existing highway to Survey Station 24+0, the end of the proposed project. The total length of the proposed project is about 0.42 mile.

Design: The roadway will be designed 44 feet in width, made up of two twelve-foot wide bituminous travel lanes with a ten-foot wide paved shoulder on each side, all to be constructed on a variable depth aggregate base and subbase. Surface drainage generally will be accommodated by means of roadside ditches and open-ended driveway and roadway pipe culverts leading to suitable outlet ditches or natural waterways. Total width of right of way required for the project will be 120 feet or 60 feet on each side of the new centerline.

This proposed location and design is generally in accordance with the preliminary plans for the project as described at an informal meeting held at the Gilead Town Office on October 30, 1973.

Maps, drawings, the Negative Statement on environment and other pertinent information developed by the Bureau of Highways and written views which have been received by the Bureau from interested individuals, groups and agencies are available for public inspection and copying at Carver's Exxon, Gilead Village between the hours of 9:00 A. M. and 5:00 P. M., Monday through Friday.
